4. Startup of Raspberry Pi 500

After burning the image, insert the SD card directly into the Raspberry Pi 500, then connect the monitor, power supply, and mouse, and you can enter the system.

Under normal circumstances, the signal light will turn red when booting, then turn green, wait for a few seconds for the green light to flash irregularly, enter the desktop, and then the green light will be always on.